

Learning about life

THE Life Education Van continues to be as popular as ever, with local school students getting a thrill out of seeing Healthy Harold and the unique 'starry night sky' inside the van.

This week students at Cootamundra Public School were treated to lessons inside the van, while next week it will be Sacred Heart Central School's turn and the following week the van will be at EA Southee School, with Elouera Special School joining in during one of the days.

Life Education educator Cath Adams said she is looking forward to getting around to all of the schools in the area.

This year Life Education has introduced a new Year 4 program based around a number of areas including drugs, medicines, bullying and body language.

Educators talk to students of all ages about drug and health education, empowering them to make safe choices.

The interactive atmosphere is always a winner with students.

This year marks the 30th year of Life Education in Australia.

■ EMPOWERED: it was a big thumbs up to Healthy Harold and Life Education for Cootamundra Public School students on Wednesday. Pictured are Abby Loiterton, Brigette Holder, Henry Altenburg, Oliver Litchfield, Millie McGaum-Smith and educator Cath Adams.

■ REASON TO CELEBRATE: Cootamundra High School Year 12 students had reason to celebrate after sitting their last Higher School Certificate geography examination yesterday. Pictured (from left) are Lizzie Rickett, Jamie Smith, Sam Hargraves, Ashlee Lynch, Xavier Hicks, Leith Johnson, Steven Warton, Sam Reid and Jack Walsh.