Trojan Workforce Newcastle staff volunteer at World's Biggest Car Boot Sale

For the third year in a row, Trojan Workforce staff showed their commitment to worthy local causes by volunteering at the World's Biggest Car Boot Sale at Newcastle's Energy Australia Stadium.

Casual and permanent Trojan staff showed put in an outstanding effort on Sunday 5th December 2010 when they volunteered their own valuable time to work as traffic controllers and donation collectors at the Hunter Life Education fundraising event.

This was the third year our staff has volunteered for this event, and it was a hot and very busy day for the 14 volunteers who contributed a total of 68 hours to the worthwhile cause.

Executive Officer of Hunter Life Education David Baker thanked the Newcastle team via an email to Corynne McArthur, Trojan Workforce Newcastle Branch Manager:

"We're happy to report the World's Biggest Car Boot Sale 2010 raised over $30 000. The funds raised from the World's Biggest Car Boot Sale help support the delivery of the important Life Education program in the Hunter region. The Life Education program empowers children and young people to make positive, informed health and lifestyle choices free from the harmful effects of drugs and alcohol.

Each year over 30,000 children attend the vital healthy lifestyle sessions provided by Life Education, thanks to the funds raised by volunteers like you and your team... This is Trojan Workforce's third year assisting us and please know Corynne your team's efforts are again really appreciated."

In previous years many Newcastle and Central Coast Trojan Workforce staff and temps have also given their time voluntarily. We again thank everyone that participated in 2008, 2009 and 2010 and look forward to doing it all again in 2011.
